CAPTAINS' CLUB

ST. MARY'S COLLEGE, the Leinster Cup holders, have not as yet had a player honoured by Ireland. Interprovincials, final trialists they have had and in good quantity, but never an Ireland cap to complete the distinctions of a progressive and fine club.

However, this season, players from St. Mary's have set up what may well be a record at interprovincial level.

The Leinster senior team had four St. Mary's men among its members, Sean Lynch, Denis Hickie, Terry Young and John Maloney. The Leinster Schools team contains four St. Mary's boys, while last Sunday, the Leinster junior team also had a St. Mary's man in its ranks.

Now this could well have happened before, but it should not go unnoticed that all three teams have been captained by St. Mary's College players. Sean Lynch has led the seniors, Paul Andreucetti is captain of the Schools XV, while the junior team was led against Munster by the big St. Mary's second row forward George Hook.

Just for good measure and to show that the qualities of leadership run deep around Fortfield road, Derek Jennings was captain of one of the sides in the Leinster Youths trial.
